

Do you want to help your neighbors during an emergency or disaster?

Are you interested in emergency preparedness?

Do you stay calm in a crisis?

If you answered yes to these questions, volunteering for Vermont 2-1-1 may be right for you!

Vermont 2-1-1, a health and human service helpline available statewide, is seeking volunteers to join the Disaster Response Team. Volunteers help answer the phone when call volume spikes in an emergency. Throughout the year, volunteers are on-call and attend periodic trainings and emergency exercises.

Joining the Disaster Response Team is a great way for you to help others when the help is needed most. You're invited to have a snack and learn about volunteering for Vermont 2-1-1 at the next community orientation.
